Chesterfield County Fair, November 8-9-10-11, 1916

Next Wednesday the gates to the Chesterfield County Fair will swing open to the public for four days of fun and frolic. There is more interest being taken in the County Fair this year than ever before and reports from all over the County are to the effect that record breaking crowds will attend the fourth annual Fair in Chesterfield next week.

The force of carpenters are now busy at the Fair grounds putting everything into ship-shape. The live stock and cattle buildings have been overhauled. The kitchen department has been enlarged. A new pump has been put down to furnish water, and all convenient accessories to the fair grounds have been put in place.

The large brick cotton warehouse of the Chesterfield warehouse company has been leased and the fair grounds fence has been extended to take in this building.

While the County Fair is held primarily to exploit the agricultural resources of Chesterfield County, the management appreciates the fact that at this season of the year, the harvest time, the people are looking for recreation and amusement; and, in response to this feeling, they have contracted with the Dorman and Krause Carnival Company to bring their solid train of fourteen cars, fifteen shows and riding devices to the County Fair.

The woman Aeronaut will make a balloon ascension each day at the Fair; one mile in the air she will make a parachute drop. This is a real "thriller" and is offered by the Fair association at a heavy cost to themselves as a free attraction to the public. Another free attraction will be Billy Klein, the champion High Diver of the world, who will each day dive from the top of a 96 ft. ladder into a tank only 54 inches deep in water.

The officers and superintendents of the Fair will each wear a badge so the public will know who to ask for any information desired. The superintendents of the various departments are as follows:

Household Art Department, Mrs. J. W. Hanna.
Home Demonstration and Kitchen Department, Miss Stella Mims.

General Farm Department, W. J. Odum.
Boys' Corn Clubs, W. I. Tiller.
Live Stock, Cattle and Swine, F. W. Rivers.

Riding and Driving, P. A. Murray.

E. J. Watson Will Speak at Chesterfield Nov. 9th

Col. E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture for South Carolina, will speak to the farmers at the county seat on Thursday, November 9th. He wants just as many farmers as possible to attend, for on that day he hopes to organize a Farm Loan Association. He will explain the recent law authorizing these farmers associations, and this will be a splendid opportunity for one and all to learn how this law will operate.

Remember the date: Thursday, November 9th.

11 Steamers Among Ships Torpedoed As Germans Stage Raid

Berlin, Oct. 27.—Via London, Oct. 28.—At least 11 outpost steamers and two or three torpedo boat destroyers or torpedo-boats were sunk or damaged by a German torpedo-boat squadron Thursday night in the English channel between Folkstone and Boulogne, according to an official communication issued here.

The German torpedo boat flotilla returned safely to its base without any loss.

The communication says: "Parts of our torpedo forces moved from a German bay Thursday night, through the straits of Dover and Calais to the line of Folkstone-Boulogne, in the English channel.

"According to the report of Commander Michaelsen at least 11 outpost steamers and two or three destroyers or torpedoboats were sunk, partially or totally, near hostile ports. Some members of the crews who were saved were captured.

"Several other guarding vessels and at least two destroyers were heavily damaged by torpedoes and artillery fire. Also the English post steamer Queen was sunk south of Folkstone, the crew having time to leave the ship.

"In the channel near the Farnel Lightship there was a strikingly active traffic by hospital ships.

"Our torpedo-boats safely returned to German waters without any loss."

Rev. "J. W." Went to the Carnival

Rev. J. W. Little, the well known evangelist who used to have a reputation for whipping Mormon elders and breaking up stills, had a bit of the old time enthusiasm for wielding the strong arm of right during the recent fair at Marshville, his home. He had been away for some time, and when he returned and heard that a carnival had been allowed to come into the fair grounds to help bear expenses he forthwith determined that he would see for himself as to the alleged immoral features. When he marched up with the crowd to buy a ticket some one yelled, "Yonder comes the preacher," and the ticket seller, who had been told about certain habits and inclinations of the preacher, vehemently refused to sell him a ticket or to admit him into the show.

"I am going in if I have to take a stick and knock my way in," declared the preacher, "and I'll not pay you a cent now since you have acted such a fool. I live here, and if it's not fit for me to see it's not fit for other people to see. I am going in."

He then told the man he would get an officer to take him in, but if he couldn't he was going in by virtue of a strong arm and a heavy stick. The officer agreed to take him through, the showman submitted and showed the preacher through as an honored guest. No immoral features were noticed by the preacher, so he did not get to tear up the show as he had said he would do if he found immoral features.
